

SHIP AGROUND IN HEAVY GALE CALLS FOR HELP

Atlantic Seaboard Suffered in Worst Storm

of Years.

New York, Feb. 6.—The steamship Princess Anne of the Old Dominion Line, carrying 32 passengers and a crew of 72 from Norfolk, Va., to New York, ran aground one mile off the coast at Rockaway Point on Long Island in a heavy storm early today and sent out S. O. S. calls for assistance. Tugs from army transport headquarters at Hoboken, wrecking hugs and a bottle passed from the her aid. Wireless reports said that Captain Seay of the Princess Anna had been seriously injured but no details were given. The vessel's position was considered seriously on account of the gale that had lashed the coast for the past two days.

Later reports from the stranded ship were that she was taking water rapidly and the captain requested that passengers and crew be taken off before night.

ANOTHER STORM FORECAST.
By Associated Press. Leased Wire

Washington, Feb. 6.—Another 24 hours of snow and high winds along the Atlantic coast from Maryland to Maine was forecast today by the weather bureau.

The peak of the storm is now in New England where the heaviest fall of snow in the east this winter—24 inches—was recorded in places. The fall continued general and covered a path as far west as the upper Ohio valley.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Strub and the birthday of their son, Edgar, was celebrated on Thursday evening at their beautiful home. Fifty of their friends gathered there to assist them in making the event a memorable one. Games of various kinds, cards and music were the diversions of the evening. An elaborate supper, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, potato salad, fruit salad with whipped cream, cake and whipped cream, was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Strub were invited to take a prominent position facing the guests as Philip Lyon read the history of their twenty-five years of wedded life and presented them with a set of silver knives and forks, expressing the desire that all present might celebrate with them many more anniversaries in such happy fashion. Mr. and Mrs. Strub both responded with words of appreciation, thanking the guests for the gift and the pleasure which they had bestowed.

CAN'T DO WITHOUT TELEGRAPH.

E. Fritz, of Olney, Ill., a former Dixon resident, who came here in 1853 on April 2nd and remembers B. F. Shaw of those early days well, writes of the enjoyment The Telegraph still give him. He says that when he does not get The Telegraph he feels as though he was going without his meals.

"We had a fine winter," says Mr. Fritz, "only one snow to speak of on Jan. 7 and 8th of about 7 inches. On Jan. 20 and 21 rain and sleet loaded the trees. Had no wind to drift all winter. On the 26th the sleet left the trees. During this sleet it was thawing a little every day and there were only about 5 inches of frost in the ground. We had only two or three nights of zero weather."

In the kitchen of her own home Sister Mary cooks daily for a family of four adults. She brought to her kitchen an understanding of the chemistry of cooking, gained from study of domestic science in a state university. Consequently the advice she offers is a happy combination of theory and practice. Every recipe she gives is her own, first tried out and served at her family table.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, buckwheat cakes with sausage, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked rice and tomatoes, health bread and butter, blushing apples, tea.

DINNER—Celery, soup, boneless birds, twice baked potatoes, buttered carrots, grapefruit salad, steamed graham pudding, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

When the meat course is light the rest of the dinner must contain protein and fat in proportion to make up for it. In this case the soup made of milk, the graham pudding served with whipped cream or hard sauce, furnish an even amount of muscle building food to help out the lack in the meat.

BAKED RICE AND TOMATOES.

1 cup rice,
2 cups tomato juice,
1 green sweet pepper,
2 small onions,

½ pound cheese,
2 tablespoons melted butter,
Salt and pepper.
Cook rice. Grate or dice cheese. Seed and chop peppers. Mince onions. Save part of cheese to sprinkle over top before baking. Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Put in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with cheese and bake slowly for an hour and a half.

BONELESS BIRDS.

1 slice of veal steak,
½ pound bacon,
1 medium sized onion,
Salt and pepper.

Cut steak in strips the size of bacon. Mince onion. Season veal with salt and pepper, remembering that the bacon contains a large amount of salt. On a piece of veal put a slice of onion. Roll up and tie. Fry until brown, then cover with boiling water and simmer for one and a half hours. Make a gravy in the pan the meat was cooked in.

GRAPEFRUIT SALAD.

2 grapefruit,
1 cup chopped celery,
1 cup chopped apples,
½ cup nuts,

Cut grapefruit in small pieces. To do this I cut the fruit as for breakfast and scoop out each partition with a stiff spoon. There is little danger of getting any of the tough bitter parts this way and when the fruit is to be used in small pieces it's much easier than trying to separate the sections. Mix all ingredients and let stand 10 or 15 minutes. Then add mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce.

Men are always praising home cooking, but the home cook is fair to praise a hotel dinner.

LICK NOT AT ALL.

Some folks don't lick postage stamps because they taste like Hades and others because they have heard that there's germs on 'em. But most people in their haste give them a lick and let it go at that.

The "Medical Times" put two investigators at work on the subject some months ago and their report is just out. They obtained stamps from 50 different places, mostly business offices. Some were kept exposed on desks, some in boxes in desk drawers, and some were carefully locked in cash registers. No matter; the degree of exposure didn't count. In every case the gum on the backs contained deadly disease germs.

The investigators found the bacilli of typhoid, diphtheria, pneumonia, skin diseases and blood diseases. Not a few, but many on the back of every stamp. In 20 cases, the colonies of germs were too numerous to count.

Of course, as the "Medical Times" points out, if these germs were virulent to everybody, great epidemics would result, so widespread is the practice of licking stamps.
Nevertheless, it is probable that many people have been stricken in this way who were physically in a condition to be receptive to the disease bacilli. Few know whether they are in such condition, hence it is just as well to moisten the stamp with some other way than with the well known tongue.

HOME COOKING.

The restaurant man who advertises "Home Cooking" knows his business. That appeals to the average man. "Apple pie like mother used to make" is a lure that none but strong-willed men can resist. But even then, sometimes, there's a lack of flavor which can hardly be defined but which a fellow realizes just isn't there.

Thousands of men are dining wanderers.
They are "fed up" on hotel and restaurant cooking. They can recognize the morning's beeksteak in the evening hash unerringly.
French menus have no charms for this army.

There are so many men who have no home life, who rarely experience a home-cooked meal, that an invitation to "come on out and let's see what the neighbors brought in for dinner," is an invitation not to be declined.

Try an invitation like that on one of your bachelor friends some evening? Give him a taste of the American plan family dinner, with Willie and Mamie all shined up and on their good behavior and the good wife on her throne behind the coffee pot. Give mother a chance to show off the cut glass at least.
Chances are your guest will clean up the platter and rise up and call you blest.

THE CITY MANAGER.

Ten cities of 2,000 to 25,000 population have adopted the city manager plan in the last three months.

Half a hundred cities of more than 10,000 population now have the city manager plan
written on their charters.

What the plan accomplishes for the small city is illustrated by the experience of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Kalamazoo is on a sound financial basis,
with a budget system and up-to-date accounting. The administration uses one form of bank check instead of 14, as formerly; one form of voucher instead of 27; has four bank accounts instead of 21; and has the lowest tax rate of any Michigan municipality.

The cities which recently have adopted the plan are Muskegon, Mich.; Lynchburg and Newport News, Va.; West Palm Beach, Sanford and Tallahassee, Fla.; Pittsburg, Cal.; Painesville, Ohio, and Sallisaw and Walters, Okla.

The government recently held civil service examinations to fill the position of town manager for some of its war-time industrial villages which are being maintained for peace-time uses, notably a nitrate-producing community at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

GOOD STORIES.

Anybody is better off for having heard good stories, clean stories, told by a born story teller. Because a good story is good in itself, and, well-told, is bound to let loose
the laugh germ. And laughter is healthy.

Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday anniversary will be celebrated on Feb. 12, was an acknowledged leader both as a teller and inventor of apt stories. The story-telling habit became a part of his nature, and he gave free rein to it. Even when the fate of the nation seemed to be trembling in the balance, Lincoln could tell a funny story. That, and a laughable book, was an outlet for the agony
he was undergoing in his soul.

Lincoln's supply of stories seemed as unfailing as a rock spring. He always had one on tap. And he enjoyed them himself, a fact which added to the enjoyment of others in them.

Martens says Russian Soviets have become strong enough to fight the world. Granted, old top. Germany was strong enough to fight the world.

The assertion that 80 per cent of the Russian people favor the Soviet government probably means that 20 per cent are out of gun range.

Italy was pleased with Holland's refusal to give up the kaiser. Italy debated a long time before she decided to give up the kaiser.

The war cost the world a trifle of $160,- 000,000,000—or about one dollar for each expedient lie told by the belligerents.

A lot of these high prices are "sucker prices." That is what it means to pay 'em.

Prohibition's battle has been won, but there is a lot of "mopping up" to be done.

K. P.

When Buckero came from France,
Ripe to resume his old romance,
He called on captivating Nance
And often stayed to dinner,
But little did he find a chance
To woo her and to win her.

For all the family closely vied
In sticking proudly to his side
Till he was like to burst his hide
With "tushes!" and with "pishes!"
And then, at length, he brightly cried,
"Nance, let US do the dishes!"

"For, let me boast, across the sea,
Although no medals hung on me,
I won the thirty-third degree
In dire and dreadful duty;
I was Superlative K. P.
To every second Lieuty!"

O, then they vanished, as they swore
The kitchen had no room for more,
And further help would be a bore
And only cause confusion;
Then silence, as they closed the door
Upon a sweet seclusion.

And then he softened well the soap
And used it to the fullest scope.
And chewed the rag (which is a trope
To symbol he besought her)
And she, she sprinkled him with hope
And kept him in hot water.

While mother, with her hands in lap,
Said fervently, "Now there's a chap
For whom I'd set a daughter's cap;
He meets my fondest wishes;—
A man who's traveled all the map
And filled so full of army snap
He LIKES to do the dishes!"

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association)

"He can't believe it! Bob can't believe it!" I said to myself as I sat, a heap of misery, in a corner of the auto. I heard the men speak of Berghoff, Bob directed Morrison to arrange for the burial of the body and to cable the man's family in Berlin. Bob sat at the farther end of the seat, Jim my between us, and Morrison with the chauffeur. By keeping aloof from me at a time when I certainly needed a husband's sympathy, Bob advised his distrust of me to Jim and Morrison.

When by all the rules of chivalry, he should have refused to doubt his wife, Bob humiliated me, and yet, had I accused him of it, he would have protested that he didn't intend to, that he was only pre-occupied! Bob's manners were faultless when he wanted them to be so, but the instinct of the male prevailed when he was hurt, as he had been by what Berghoff implied. He took his revenge ruthlessly.

Of course I couldn't explain anything to him before Jim and Morrison. I knew very well that I wouldn't explain when we reached the hotel and I was alone with my husband.

Berghoff was a traitor by training and the fact that Bob could tolerate a doubt of me based on the spy's evidence, sealed my lips.

Never would I condescend to defend myself! Whenever in our married life Bob had made any criticism of me, even in a trivial matter, I had been stricken dumb. More than once I had seemed at fault when I was not at fault. Many a time it would have been better for us both could I have explained. My, in my extreme trial—I was dumb from habit.

It was a habit to warn all proud young brides against—and young husbands, too. Just as long as Bob and I had been able to talk over our differences, we had found a way back to happiness. But when pride made us silent and stubborn at the same time, we drove happiness away!

As Bob sat in his corner of the auto thinking very hard, I knew that he never would have humiliated me before Jim and Morrison had he not been interested in Katherine Miller. His "pre-occupation" was worry about my rival.

I could measure his increasing interest in the other woman by his increasing indifference to me. His readiness to doubt my loyalty was proof to me, that he wanted to do so. He was anxious to find an excuse for permitting his mind to dwell upon the charms of the lady of the tawny tresses!

Reaching into my bag for my handkerchief to dry the tears, I couldn't control, I touched the notes which Katherine Miller had written to my husband when she had supposed him to be upon the train. I spent the remainder of the ride to the hotel trying to decide whether I should show these notes to Bob.

They were enough to disgust a decent man. They were valuable ammunition with which I could destroy my rival. If Bob should read them, he couldn't possibly undertake the trip with the searching party. He wouldn't care to come face to face with the girl. I didn't see how he could ever speak to her again except in the most formal way.

I put the case to myself, over and over. Finally I pushed the notes deeply into my bag.

"Let him go!" I said to myself—"and stand or fall by the adventure!"

Not by the raising of a finger would I warn him of danger. It was his duty to me, his wife, to perceive every threat to our happiness and to ward it off.

I was not, alone, responsible for our happiness. I was not, alone, the custodian of the dignity and honor of our marriage.

Many wives I knew assumed that burden. They nagged or lured their husbands along the straight and narrow path. To hold a husband, by any process, they considered a wife's duty. Thus they supported the double code of morals made by men.

I would neither nag or lure my husband. Unless Bob could be loyal because he preferred to be—he needn't be loyal at all!

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE CROSS OLD BOOK

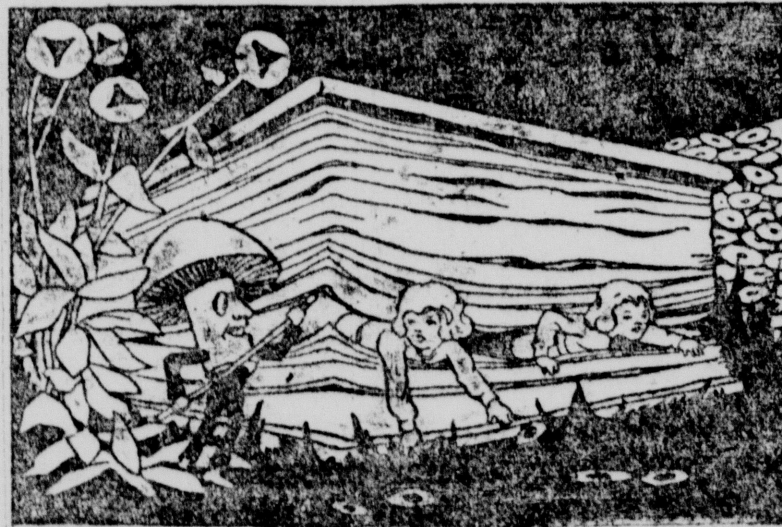

Neither the wise old Riddle Book nor silly old Funny Book in Once Upon Town knew a thing about the monkey when the twins asked them, and books pretending to be so wise 'n' all, too!

So Nancy and Nick began to watch the pictures again that were hopping around and having a good time. Puss-in-Boots and Jack-the-Giant-Killer Snow-White, the Fat-Man-of-Bombay—oh, just everybody was there!

These children were asking the magical mushroom how all the pictures would find their own books again when, snap, something shut with a bang!
And the twins found themselves in a dark, tight, terribly squeaky place, with a scoldy voice saying over and over, "Did you get that pail of water yet?"

"Is somebody talking to us?"

"Yes," whispered the magical mushroom, who was with the children.

They pried open the cross old book and let the twins out.

"It's the old book—it's blind and can't see, and thinks you are Jack and Jill.
It shut up on you."

"No, sir," spoke up Nick. "We didn't get the water, because you see we're not—"

But the book snapped him off. "Well—well, I've waited for that pail of water till I'm all dried up and my leaves are falling out, and here you two little rascals are out playing instead of attending my wants. I was sure when Fanny Brown lost me and I came here to The Land o' Lost Things that I'd be comfortable. You stay here until you promise."

"But we're not Jack and Jill, we're Nick and Nancy," insisted Nick.

"You can't fool me I know better!" said the old book.

Dear knows what would have happened, but the magical green shoes thought that was enough of an adventure for one day, so they pried open the cross old book and let the twins out.

Away they scampered, glad to be free.

GUARDING AGAINST COLDS.

Remember that common "colds" are catching. The cause of colds is infection by germs, but many of the germs
would be harmless if the predisposing causes were absent. The predispos-ing causes of colds are many and include:

1.—Chronic inflammation in the
nasal cavity.

2.—Lack of resistance, which may be caused by any depressing condition or disease, or alcoholism, overwork, poor nutrition, insufficient sleep, etc.

3.—Sudden chilling of the body,
especially when overheated, cold
and wet feet, wearing too much clothing causing perspiration
which is often followed by chilling; wearing too little clothing
so that the body heat is lost faster than it is generated.

4.—Disordered digestion including constipation.

5.—Foul air and poor ventilation, and the breathing of irritating dust.

What To Do.

If you have disease, or some other abnormal condition of the nose or throat, go to a physician specialist for treatment. Keep away from self-styled "specialists" who advertise.

Increase your individual resistance to disease by spending as much time
as possible in the open air and looking after the welfare of the body generally, as by eating, resting and sleeping, sufficiently and regularly.

Keep the windows of your office, workshop and home open. Fresh air is the great life-saver. If you are strong and robust, yet susceptible to "colds," you may take a cool morning bath, followed by rubbing with coarse towel. Take a cool sponge bath, if a tub bath is not convenient.

Keep the feet warm and dry.
Avoid sudden chilling of the body,
especially if overheated.

Wear neither too much nor too little clothing.

Keep the bowels in good working order.

If a "cold" lasts longer than two weeks or is repeated often, consult a physician. If you are losing flesh without apparent cause and are easily fatigued, even though no cough is present, arrange for a medical examination every few months until your condition becomes normal.

ANSWERED.

Q.—I have suffered from deafness
and head noises for about two years.
My trouble is in the middle ear, along with catarrh. What shall I do?

A.—The middle ear condition of which you complain is sometimes very stubborn, though in many cases persistent treatment at the hands of a skilled ear specialist often brings relief. It is not feasible to give you specific advice concerning your case.
It is suggested that you speak to your physician frankly and be guided by his advice.

Q.—What causes high blood pressure? My doctor has got it back to normal, but I am afraid it may return. What shall I do? My doctor just says, "Leave it to me; I'll fix you up."

A.—This condition is caused by, or associated with, a number of different conditions, and only a physician who is thoroughly familiar with the condition, and who has examined the patient, could give you the information you ask for. Why not speak to your physician and ask him to tell you more about your condition? Inasmuch as he has been able to reduce the pressure to normal, he may feel that you are worrying entirely too much about it. Worry is known to have a bad effect on the condition, so why not leave well enough alone and trust to him?

Q.—I was operated on for gall stones and had my appendix removed at the same operation. I now suffer from what the doctors call adhesions across the liver. What shall I do?

A.—By all means go back to the surgeon who operated on you, have him give you a thorough examination and follow his advice. It may be that another operation is indicated.

Q.—Is the water of the Great Lakes fit to drink?

A.—Yes, and it is drunk, but unless it can be taken far off from the shores it may be polluted with sewage. When taken from near the shore by municipalities for a public water supply it should first be purified by filtration
or chlorination.

Q.—The doctor tells me I am suffering from tuberculosis contracted in the army two years ago. I am told that I am entitled to free sanatorium treatment. To whom should I apply?

A.—Write to the Chief Medical Advisor, War Risk Bureau, Washington, D. C.

SUCH IS LIFE

Olga is emancipated

From all notions antiquated.
She's for the neolithic art.
Verse and meter—they must part,
Cave men never rimed their stuff,
Olga says, and that's enough.

Never, never, will she marry,
She's so revolutionary.
But her friends all take the view
That no man will ask her to.

Peter B. Stefano, a Brooklyn boot-black, makes $225 a week shining shoes, according to his wife, who has been granted $50 a week temporary alimony.

Miss Sophie Hodosky, New York
waitress, was arrested on a charge of having driven her automobile too rapidly. The judge asked her what wages
she received.

"Twelve dollars a week," she replied.

"But how do you buy automobiles
on that?" he inquired.

"I don't, your honor. You see, I make $30 a week in tips."

Mrs. Lewis F. Mason, wife of a United States commissioner, in Chicago, arises to remark that her wash-erwoman comes to work each Monday in her own automobile.

And John Morrin, private in the United States army for 54 years, has bought $25,000 worth of Liberty bonds
with his savings.

PINNING A MEDAL ON THE MAILMAN.

If there is any one man whom we all know—whom we all look forward to seeing each day—it's Mr. Mailman.

There is only one time when he is not exactly welcome—the first of the month. And yet, how can he help it if you don't pay your bills.

Who brings us the glad tidings that Sister Sue has a new baby boy?

Who slips us the good word that we are invited to a party Saturday night?

Who carries a sack in which are the "keys" to smiles, tears, happiness or sorrow?

Who aids Santa Claus and all the other holiday leaders in the distribution of remembrances?

Who brings us reams of picture
postals that never mean anything?

Guess you'll about come to the conclusion that Mr. Mailman is a much-needed human.

MILK MAN.

Now that prohibition has absolutely gone into effect, what would all of the big bottle concerns in the country do if it weren't for—
Mr. Milkman?

Who is it who brings the fluid that you pour all over the baby's breakfast food?

Who is it who stands his weary way along are lit streets in the hours of the morning when the only other folk out are poker players, returning home?

Who is it who says a cherry good morning to the old nag who hauls great oceans of generated pasture flowers?

Who is it who bangs his way into your back hallway, or onto your back porch just when you're turning over for another bit of nap?

In fact, what would you do for a heap of things that you eat and drink
if it weren't for our mutual friend,
Mr. Milkman?

FORMING NEW STATES

The state of Manhattan to be composed of the counties of Suffolk, Nassau, Queens, Kings, Richmond, New York, Bronx and West Chester has been proposed in the New York legislature. Another bill has been offered designed to make a separate state of Greater New York, including not only the counties in the proposed state of Manhattan, but the counties of Putnam, Dutchess, Rockland, Orange,
Ulster, Green and Sullivan. The long headed gentlemen in 1787 were able to foresee that here might be a multiplicity of states, when cities became more powerful, so they wisely wrote in that charter, "No new state shall be formed or created within the jurisdiction of any other state . . . without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the congress." We suggest that it will be a far distant day before
New York can decide just what counties are to make up the new state, get the consent of the legislature and the O. K. of congress.—Toledo Blade.

Thought One Clean Shirt All He Needed

"Ten years ago I was reduced to a mere shadow. I was yellow as a gold piece and would often be doubled up with most excruciating pains in my stomach. Physicians could only relieve me with morphine. I was advised to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it helped me at once. What is more, I have been well ever since. A friend said he thought one more clean shirt all I would ever wear." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists, everywhere.

Denies Reds Plan Move on Poland

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Copenhagen, Feb. 6.—Reports that the Bolshevik government of Russia plans a military offensive against Poland are denied by Maxim Litvinoff, representative of the Soviet government who is in this city conferring with James O'Grady, British delegate, for the exchange of prisoners of war.

He said: "We are certain allied reactionaries are working with the military party, the conservative elements and the foreign office of Germany. To cover this co-operation a press campaign is on foot to mislead public opinion and to give the impression that Soviet Russia intends to attack Poland. Rumors of the marching of Russian troops on the Polish frontier have for the most part come through German sources."

"Our peace offers to Latvia, Lithuania and Finland are still open and we are prepared to begin negotiations at any moment. A single word to Poland by the allies and America would be sufficient to make Poland give up any imperialistic ambitions and would produce general peace in eastern Europe to the benefit of the whole world."

CLAMMING SEASON TO OPEN EARLIER

Word from the office of the state game warden is to the effect that the clamming season on Rock river will open this year on June 2, six weeks earlier than last year. This will give the people who are engaged in the business of taking mussels from the river, a fairly good start on their season's work. Clammers will be glad to see the state game department give out advance information. Last fall they moved so slow that by the time they got around to issue permits for seining rough fish from the river the season was so far along that the ice stopped the work.

The annual importation of walnuts during the past 10 years was more than 30,000,000 pounds.

4.—Because we buy direct of the growers and pick grade, and pack or barrel stock in the orchard, getting them to you in the most perfect condition.

5.—Because we are the only firm here buying direct from the grower in the orchard.

6.—Because we are the largest and most experienced dealer here.

7.—Because our house is an Apple house, and we do not handle apples as a side line.

A Modern Story of Home and Business

MORE BAD NEWS

CHAPTER 53

I had not mentioned that Gardner Kenyon had brought me home when Robert had failed to meet me. It was from no desire to hide anything, but I had been so hurt by Robert's failure to meet me that I hated to talk of anything connected with my home coming.

About a week after my return Gardner called. We were at home, and I told the maid to send him right up. Robert greeted him pleasantly, and we had a pleasant half hour chatting about my visit to the mountains and other things which seemed to interest Robert. Just as Gardner was about to go he said:

"You should have seen how disappointed your wife was. Mr. Kenyon when she had to accept my escort home the night we came down from the mountains. I was a mighty poor substitute if one could judge by her looks."

"Oh, it was very kind of you, and I appreciated it," I hastened to say, "but when one expects to see a person they are naturally disappointed if they don't appear."

Robert looked from one to the other in so puzzled a manner that I said:

"Didn't I tell you Mr. Kenyon was kind enough to bring me home Saturday night?"

"This is the first I have heard of it," Robert dryly answered.

"Well he did. I had looked all over for you and probably looked as I felt—ready to cry. So he took pity on me."

"Really I must go," Kenyon broke in. And this time he got away.

"Keep mighty quiet about that fellow didn't you?" Robert remarked as soon as we were alone. "A lot of difference it made whether I met you or not."

"I was so hurt and disappointed I forgot all about him!" I replied, resenting his tone.

"He's the sort a woman forgets, slick, well dressed, and holds a good position. I expect he came out on top when you compared us."

"Now Robert aren't you ashamed of yourself? You should be if you away and made no reply. But when he laid his book down an hour later he remarked:

"That paragon of yours didn't seem to approve of the way we lived. When you left the room to get the ice water he talked as if he were surprised that we lived in a boarding house."

He acted astonished when I told him we did not keep house, but I can't see that it is any of his business. "But changed his mind when he met you?" There was a world of sarcasm in Robert's voice. I was conscious as I recalled the exact words Gardner Kenyon had used.

"I imagine you fill both positions well."

"I am not such a bad wife, am I Robert? And I know I am a good business woman," I added.

"You're the latter all right. I've not complained, have I?"

"No—you've not said anything."

"Living as we do doesn't seem to strike anyone as being anything they need envy us, does it?"

"People make me tired! Most of them haven't a mind above stomachs. If a woman can or wants to do anything except wash dishes and cook, they act as if something was wrong with her. I'm glad you aren't so narrow."

"It is a good thing, isn't it? Again that sarcastic tone. Then 'I might as well tell you, Gerry, I'm not making very good at Caiding's.'"

"What?"

"I'm not making much headway at Caiding's."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c.

"You don't mean you have lost your position?"

"No—but when I asked for the promised raise, they told me I had not earned one. That's all."

"I'm sorry, Robert," I said after a moment. "It will come later." Yet as I kissed him goodnight I felt more disturbed than I cared to let him know, more discouraged for him than ever before.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—Renewal of his charges of an enormous waste of print paper by executive departments of the federal government, Senator Smoot told the senate today that from July 1, 1916, to last July 15, 30,144,362 copies of speeches made by cabinet officials and other persons were printed and distributed through the mails at a total cost of $442,000.

Senator Smoot said this not only was a waste of paper, but an abuse of the public's money, and that should be stopped immediately in view of the serious print paper situation.

Senator Sherman, republican, Illinois, declared much paper was consumed by Mr. McAdoo in distributing "propaganda" as railroad literature when he was director of railroads and "though he was a candidate for president."

"In Michigan," said Senator Sherman, "the Newberry campaign committee was damned from Dan to Bersheba because he paid his own expenses. Mr. McAdoo paid his campaign bills at the expense of the government and he passes as an example of public virtue."

WORKING shoulder to shoulder with you for the betterment of the community in which you and he have a common interest, is your local druggist.

He shares your burdens and your joys and contributes his full share towards those things that add to the social and economic welfare of his neighbors.

Very often he is a leading factor in securing local improvements in streets, roads and other public utilities.

For the convenience of the people in his vicinity he carries hundreds of times thousands of drug items—some of which he must buy far in advance of anticipated demands so that he may have them when his customers need them.

He is, in fact, your agent, because when he buys, he must of necessity select only those items which he knows will be pleasing to you. Therefore, your druggist is worthy of your fullest support! Remember he sells other things besides drugs—he must, in order to continue to give you the kind of service you have always received from him.

So the next time you need cigars, razor blades, brushes, toilet articles, rubber goods or any item you expect to find in an up-to-date drug store—even some you might not expect to find there—call on your local druggist.

Give him at least an opportunity to be judged on a basis of honest comparison. You'll find that, in actual dollars and cents value, your druggist will give you the very best in anything you buy.

"Strong Arm" Cop Quits on Pension

By Associated Press Leased Wire New York, Feb. 6.—New York City lost one of its famous "strong arm" policemen today when Patrolman Selig ("Ajax") Whitman retired after a picturesque career of 26 years. The 54-year-old veteran, who was known nationally as a strong man was injured more than a score of times in halting runaway horses and received official commendation for his bravery seven times. He will receive an annual pension of $950. He was chosen ten years ago to form a "strong arm" squad to break up the notorious "car barn gang," which was then terrorizing Harlem. The gangsters landed either in jail or in the hospital.

"Ajax" gave exhibitions of strength on a tour with the late John L. Sullivan before the boxing champion fought "Jake" Kilrain. Among his noted feats were pushing a loaded freight car weighing more than twelve tons and lifting by his teeth a hoghead of water upon which stood several men. He was credited with lifting a 1,030 pound dumbbell with his teeth.

Have You Given Up?

Are you one of the 85% of men over 65 years old who have given up, and are waiting for the end?

There is no reason for any man or woman to sit in a corner and give up the pleasures of life—the joy of living—the social and business activities that make life worth while.

In middle life and old age the cells of the body are not reconstructed as rapidly as in youth. The cell-salts so abundant in the rich red blood of youth are insufficient in the blood of older people. The heart action slows down, the circulation of the blood slackens, the blood lacks a sufficient supply of vitalizing oxygen and the organs of the body fail to function.

The body in youth possesses more heat than in middle life or old age. That's because there is an abundance of cell-salts in the blood when the body is young—and the blood is rich in oxygen which burns up and eliminates the waste tissues and worn out cells. In youth the quick hot blood urges to action and the body renews itself quickly.

As we grow older we slow down, sit in a sunny corner and give up. We fail to learn the lessons of life and weakly surrender to fear, worry and imaginary diseases that are merely Nature's cry for the natural cell-salts that she must have to keep the body strong and vigorous, and the life-giving oxygen that burns up the worn out cells and vitalizes the blood, making the entire body glow with health and energy.

REOLO has remarkable tonic and reconstructive qualities. It supplies to the thin, inactive, impoverished blood the natural cell salts, iron and oxygen that the body must have to keep well and renew itself.

Try the systematic REOLO Treatment for six weeks and you will be delighted with the steady improvement in your strength, energy and mental activity. The large package of 100 tablets, sufficient for two weeks' treatment only costs $1.

'ETERNAL TRIANGLE' MURDER CASE COMES UP MONDAY, FEB. 9

Clugston Murder Case is to Be Heard in Macomb Court.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Macomb, Ill., Feb. 6.—The Lawrence Clugston murder case is set for February 9 when Dr. George Alverson, 65 years old, and Mrs. Alice Clugston, 39, will appear as defendants in what promises to be one of the most sensational "eternal triangle" cases in western Illinois court history. Judge Robert Grier, of Monmouth, probably will hear the case in the Macomb court house.

Lawrence Clugston, aged 40, a resident and factory worker in Bushnell, died under suspicious circumstances last July. Dr. Alverson was the attending physician. Neighbors declare they had noted an unusual friendship between the doctor and Mrs. Clugston but no initiative for an inquiry was taken until the funeral service was in progress. Then the authorities were told the suspicions regarding the widow and Dr. Alverson. The funeral service was immediately stopped by the coroner.

Found Glass and Arsenic.

Upon examination of the viscera by Dr. William B. McNally, of the Cook county coroner's office, quantities of glass and arsenic were found more than sufficient to have caused Clugston's death.

A coroner's jury recommended the holding of Dr. Alverson and Mrs. Clugston on a charge of murder. Both have been in jail since their arrest.

Two of the most important witnesses at the inquest were a son of the Clugstons, 14 years old, and Mrs. Frank Wislead, a married sister of Mrs. Clugston. The son testified to having witnessed undue intimacies between his mother and Dr. Alverson and states that his mother had threatened him with punishment if he told his father.

Deeded Property to Her.

Mrs. Clugston, tall, dark complexioned and with piercing black eyes, is a member of one of the county's highly regarded families. Dr. Alverson first entered the Clugston family circle following the death of his wife. He went to the Clugston home to live and shortly after deeded his property in Prairie City to Mrs. Clugston. The Clugstons moved to Bushnell late in 1917. Dr. Alverson accompanying them and practicing his profession here. In the summer of 1918 he located at Sciota but came to Bushnell frequently and visited the Clugston home.

One of the interesting phases of the case is the violent partisanship on the side of the doctor by former patients in and near Sciota. He is said by them to have treated more than 400 patients for influenza during the epidemic last year and lost none of them. He was a member of the McDonough Medical association and not a few of his fellow physicians and surgeons have come to his aid with funds to employ counsel in his defense.

All the members of the Rev. J. M. Tidball family are recovering from attacks of the influenza. Master Jimmy is, however, still confined to his bed.

INVESTIGATE INCOME TAX.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Feb. 5.—Ten special agents of the department of justice, working under George Murdock, of Washington, today began an investigation of fraudulent income tax returns back as far as 1909.

A number of Chicago corporations and prominent individuals are said to be involved. The corps of investigators include picked men who trapped a number of tax law violators in the east last year.

The penalty for conviction is a fine of $10,000, two years imprisonment and a fifty per cent penalty on the tax which should have been paid.

BURNED SELF TO DEATH.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Joliet, Ill., Feb. 5.—Charles James, wealthy Kendall county farmer, died this morning at 2:30 o'clock from burns received yesterday when, in a fit of despondency he set fire to his clothing after first saturating a heavy blanket with gasoline and wrapping it about him. He left the house early yesterday morning before the rest of the family was awake and carried the blanket and gasoline to a field away from all farm buildings before carrying out his plan to kill himself.

During the war, the government wrote about $40,000,000,000 of insurance upon the lives of more than 4,500,000 service men and women.
